		Expected outcome	Students are expected to gain in-depth knowledge of the subject that would rear an insight to search for clarity and academic veracity of ideas and concepts inextricably related to the foundations of the subject matter. The course creates its own value in being accessible to the students of vernacular medium and provides opportunity to understand and grasp the fundamentals of the subject, conceptual, theoretical and in certain cases in application. The syllabus reflects a topical approach covering a broad spectrum from traditional foundational issues to more contemporary ones. The idea is to ingrain into the mind of learners strong theoretical underpinnings that can probe into topical issues and read plural narratives on the same. The course prepares the mind for research and application providing opportunities to learners to choose either an academic or a non academic professional field.
